It's Universal Practice To Put Kin on Payrolls

BY WILLIAM McGAFFIN CPYRGHT Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Congressmen who put their relatives on their payrolls are not confined to any one section of the country. They come from all over.

This has been revealed in previous stories, part of a survey by The Chicago Daily News. And it re-emphasized by additional interviews which have just been concluded. Four of those interviewed are from California:

Rep. George P. Miller, a Democrat, said he is proud of long as I am in Congress," he declared.

He said everyone in his district knows she works for him because he has her name on his office stationery.

Her salary is $785.25 a month. Asked if she was working because he needed the money, the congressman replied, "It's none of your business."

Rep. John E. Moss, a Democrat, pays his wife. Mrs.
